HIST 4730, RELS 4730: History of Black America
Taught by: Kyle T. Bulthuis
How did black Americans contribute to making American history, and how does historical experience connect to larger questions about slavery, race, gender, and religion? Let's find answers together.

HIST 3670: History Slavery in the Atlantic World (CI)
Taught by: Jamie Sanders
This course explores the rise of slavery across the Americas (North and South) and its overthrow by enslaved peoples.

HIST 3130: Greek History
Taught by: Frances B. Titchener
From Troy to Rome in Greece!

HIST 3850: Utah History
Taught by: John Barton
A survey of Utah's past from prehistoric to modern time.
History 3950: Environmental History (DHA/CI)
Professor Lawrence Culver
Learn about the relationship between human society and nature across time, and how climate, disease, and disaster shaped the United States!
(The image is of the Camp Fire in Paradise, California, 2018.)

HIST/RELS 3482: Ancient China (Online)
Taught by: Clayton Brown
This course traces the emergence of the Chinese empire and the development of literature, religion, philosophy, art and culture that shaped Asia and the world.

HIST 3270, RELS 3270: Crusades
Taught by: Danielle Ross
War, faith, and power in the Middle Ages

HIST 3250: Renaissance Europe
DHA/CI
Taught by: Susan Cogan
Join us to hear what happens after a plague -- we will do some great hands-on learning with rare books and might even try out some Renaissance-era recipes!

HIST 3560: Modern East Asia (Online)
Taught by: Clayton Brown
This course explores America’s relationship with China, Japan, Korea, and Vietnam, with special focus on hot and cold wars of the twentieth century.
HIST 4540: Gender, Violence and Non-Violence: Historical and Contemporary Perspectives

Taught by: Susan R. Grayzel

Using historical and global case studies, students will explore how gender shapes the experience of war as well movements resisting war and violence and will have opportunities to develop their own research on these issues.

Counts for the Certificate in Global Peacebuilding

HIST 3330: Modern Russia and the Soviet Experiment

Taught by: Danielle Ross

Revolutionaries, dictators, oligarchs, and the making of a modern dystopia

HIST 3410 The Modern Middle East

Taught by: Ahmet Izmirlioglu

Beyond the racial and cultural stereotypes, the origins and development of one of the most intriguing, yet troubled regions in the world awaits you in this course.

HIST 4710: American Indian History (Online)

Taught by: Colleen O’Neill

About Native American history, including their struggles to maintain sovereignty over their lands, governments, and cultures.

History 3010: Introduction to Buddhism

Taught by: Dominic Sur

This course studies the history and ideas of the Buddhist religion, different styles of Buddhism, and basic Buddhist meditation.